Spike Mark Spurs Crabtree to Golf Win

By MIKE MONROE
Denver Post Sports Writer

BOULDER — Through 33 holes of golf over the Boulder Country Club's testing track here Sunday, Mark Crabtree played steady, conservative golf in his match with Scott Lane for the Colorado State Amateur Match Play title.

Perhaps, for a few holes, a bit too conservative.

It took a tiny spike mark on the 16th green to turn Crabtree into a charger, the result being a successful defense of the state title Crabtree won last year at Collindale Country Club in his home Fort Collins.

Crabtree had built a four-hole lead over Lane, a former high school teammate, after Lane missed a short birdie putt on the 525-yard, par-five 12th hole.

"I SAID TO MYSELF that all I had to do was make pars and I'd win the match," Crabtree said. "I guess I played a little too safe."

Crabtree's play-it-safe approach got him in trouble immediately. On the 13th hole of the afternoon round he opted for an iron to lay up short of a creek that bisects the fairway on the 409-yard hole. Lane boomed a wood shot. The result was a bogey for Crabtree and birdie for Lane, and a bit of momentum for Lane, who had scrambled to stay in the match all afternoon.

Given that bit of momentum, Lane followed with another birdie at 14 and Crabtree's lead was suddenly down to two holes.

AFTER HALVING the par-three 15th, the two appeared ready to have the 16th as well when Crabtree had his nasty confrontation with a spike mark on the 16th green. Just as it appeared Crabtree's 2½-foot par putt was about to drop in the hole, it hit a spike mark and jumped left of the hole. His lead was sliced to a single hole.

"Damn," the normally quiet Crabtree bellowed. "There's no way that putt can go left!"

Sufficiently angry, Crabtree then jumped all over his tee shot at 17, booming it nearly 300 yards down the middle of the fairway. Lane, meanwhile, hit a bit fat on his tee shot. He was in the fairway, but some 45 yards behind Crabtree.

LANE'S APPROACH shot was short, he ended up with bogey, and Crabtree had his second straight match-play title.

"I just didn't think that putt could go left," Crabtree said. "It really pumped me up for that tee shot."

Lane agreed that the putt had hit some of the spike marks that bothered all golfers all week.

"Sure it hit a spike mark," Lane agreed. "It just jumped left."

Crabtree, while pleased with the victory—defense of his match-play title was his No. 1 goal this summer—was disturbed about his a balky putter.

"I WAS REALLY upset with my putting. I should have gone way up early, but I missed a few short putts, and then he made that great four on No. 9. He played as well as I've ever seen him."

The "great four" to which Crabtree referred was a scrambling par on the ninth hole that denied Crabtree a three-up lead at the turn. After hitting his tee shot an inch from out of bounds and directly underneath a split-rail fence, he hit a miraculous second shot to a trap at the front of the green on the 413-yard hole. He blasted out of the trap to within three feet and dropped the putt for a saving par.

Lane had to do too much scrambling, however, and it finally caught up with him. Crabtree won No. 11 when Lane bogeyed from a trap and won 12 with a bird.

"I hit it fantastic at times, but not when it counted," Lane said. Particularly haunting to the 20-year-old Northeastern Junior College player was a chip shot that just missed dropping on the 10th hole.

"ALL WEEK LONG I'd been just missing, and I thought that one was going to drop," Lane said. "If it had, it might have turned the tide."

It didn't, however, and Crabtree, a junior at the University of Colorado, went on to build his four-hole lead on the next two holes.

Crabtree, also 20, heads this week for the Heart of America Four-Ball Championship in Overland Park, Kan., and then to U. S. Amateur qualifying and the annual Colorado Governor's Cup tournament.

Lane, who has played in so many tournaments lately that he has lost track, says he is going to take some time off.

"I'm going fishing," he chuckled.

with the East Germans and Russians taking advantage of one of America's worst days ever to run up a big lead in medals.

But track and field victories by the lanky, 6-foot-2 Moses and massive Mac Wilkins in the discus Sunday, along with the United States' first individual gold in three-day equestrian, by Tad Coffin, helped greatly to restore American prestige.

THE 6-FOOT-4, 250-pound Wilkins, from Eugene, Ore., won the discus with a heave of 221-5, well off his own record but good enough to win. Wolfgang Schmidt of East Germany was second and John Powell, San Jose, Calif., third at 215-7.

Moses, who has been running the 400-meter hurdles for only a year, scored easily in world record time of 47.64, with delighted Mike Shine of Penn State second.

Alberto Jauntoreno of Cuba won the 800 meters with another world record, 1:43.50, and Rick Wohlhuter of Chicago was a disappointing third.

Annegret Richter of West Germany won the other track final, the women's 100, with a time of 11.08. Americans were shut out of medals in that one.

Coffin, from Stratford, Vt., and Mike Plumb, Chesapeake City, Md., finished one-two in the individual standings in the three-day equestrian and the Americans won the team title easily. Princess Anne of Great Britain finished 24th.

The United States got only one medal in men's rowing, a silver by Cal Coffey, Jewett City, Conn., and Mike Staines of Philadelphia in the coxless pairs.

James Lee, an Army enlisted man from Manchester, Pa., provided a surprise silver in the middle-heavyweight weightlifting with a combined hoist of 797.5 pounds. David Rigert of Russia won with 841.5.
