

Kalinowski wins Publinx title

FORT COLLINS — Tom Kalinowski of Hillcrest Golf Course in Durango came from four shots behind to win the Colorado Golf Association's Public Links Championship at Collindale Golf Course in Fort Collins Sunday.

Kalinowski shot a final round of four-under par 67 for a thirty-six hole total of six-under par 207 and a two-shot win over defending champion Mark Crabtree of Collindale Golf Course. Crabtree, a former University of Colorado golfer and defending Publinx champion, started the day with a four-stroke lead.

Kalinowski played the final nine in four-under while Crabtree faltered, playing the last nine in two-over.

In the 36-hole United States Golf Association's Public Links Championship Qualifying, conducted simultaneously with the state championship, Rick DeWitt of Indian Tree Golf Course combined rounds of 66 and 70 to take the first qualifying spot. DeWitt, Kalinowski and Rick Petri of Greeley will advance to the national championship at Otter Creek Golf Course in Columbus, Indiana on July 15-20.
